JACOB'S WELL

Implementing growth With Sustainability

Partnership with Research Agencies and Universities provide Technology to Bring Income to our Communities.

The Riacho da Porta community recently hosted the designer of the hydroponics unit Jacob's Well is using to provide on-site training on best practices. Attended by families from the community who have worked with the unit as well as those from the new communities of Morada Nova, this was an important next step to further the use of hydroponics farming across Jacob's Well communities.
